Featured Facts

Some Winthrop students heard the opinion expressed recently that uniforms seem to emphasize the difference in students. The speaker, one who often observes the student body as a group, said that the individual faces were clear-cut against the blue background.

There was a time, not very long ago, when students considered chapel a burden. The increasingly interesting programs are changing this attitude.

Seniors seem to be in a quandary about whether they want to participate in the teacher exchange. They are faced with the prospect of missing a week of classes or foregoing the experience of the exchange.

The Teller staff is planning to keep the under statistics a close secret until the annuals come out in the spring. Secrets of this kind usually develop into behind-the-scenes knowledge.

Winthrop girls did work up some enthusiasm for the national election at last. Tuesday night was an exciting occasion for the 1,000 who had voted for Roosevelt at the student poll.

A remark was overheard to the effect that students are noisier when guests are in the dining room than at any other time. One explanation is that the ear is better attuned to the noise under such conditions.

The trees on the campus are turning to red and yellow that splash vividly against the green of the campus grass.

BURSAR NAMES NEW PICTURES

"Mary, Queen of Scots" and "Girls' Dormitory" Among Shows Scheduled

"Satisfactory arrangements have been worked out now with some of the major motion picture producers for the showing of their leading features at Winthrop College," announced Mr. Alex Graham, bursar. There will be no dearth of good pictures this year. Due to be shown are: "Mary, Queen of Scots," "Girls' Dormitory," "To Mary With Love," "Ramona," "Ladies in Love," "Road to Glory," and "Dimples."

Doctor of Pens Describe Ingrossing Life of Nomads

"All makes of fountain pens required here. Your name engraved for free."

If you look advantage of this offer then you met Mr. and Mrs. Herman Windolph from Chicago. Mr. Windolph—tall, dark, alert—resembled the pen; Mrs. Windolph—short, blond, plump—resembled him. It is quite apparent, then, that Mrs. Windolph's interest lies not so much in fountain pens, but in their relation to her husband. He, however, really enjoys the work and finds it most interesting. Not only is the work itself interesting, but the various places that it takes him are also engrossing. Mr. and Mrs. Windolph reside now in practically every large college in the South. When asked to name some of them, they began with Winthrop and continued with Peabody, Vanderbilt,

Doctor of Pens Describe Ingrossing Life of Nomads

University of Tennessee, Agnes Scott, and Duke, among many other of the better-known schools.

One time, while traveling about from place to place, Mr. Windolph found himself in a Mexican village where the people shared their clay shacks with the children, who frisked around from room to room. Another time, Mrs. Windolph went as far as Pensacola, Florida, to repair pens—which may not be so far from Rock Hill, but is quite a distance from Chicago. Here he went into one of the numerous restaurants to get supper; and one of the peculiarly inquisitive waitresses asked him what he did for a living. He told her he was a doctor of pens. When he came back for breakfast the next morning, she greeted him: "How-do-you-do Doctor." (Continued on Page Four)

Students Bet High Stakes On Presidential Election

Our gambling blood came to life over as speculation went sky high over who would be elected the next President of the United States.

Here and there, all over the campus, students sat roach, and bet even higher stakes as a co-cola-cola of a ginger ale!

The president of our student body is now poorer by the price of one ginger ale than she was Monday, because Roosevelt was swept into office by a large majority. Since Roosevelt received over 300,000 votes more than London in New York City, Mr. Purr is to enjoy putting away on a free cigar—the fulfillment of Mary Spaulding's J. O. U. (Explanation. Mary would have received a co-cola-cola if she had won). Neither loss, however, reports that she is sorry to have lost.

STUDENTS WILL TUTOR FRESHMEN

Members of Kappa Delta Pi Plan to Coach Students Needing Help

PROJECT OF FRATERNITY

Faculty to Name Students Needing Aid—Acceptance of Coaching Optional

Free tutoring for freshmen is being planned by members of the Winthrop chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national education fraternity. The freshmen will be recommended by their teachers or faculty advisers as needing some coaching outside of class.

The subjects in which coaching will be given are English, mathematics, history, commerce, sociology, and government. The tutoring periods will be arranged to suit the girl who is doing the coaching and the girls who are receiving the help; they will probably be half-hour periods two or three times a week. In this tutoring, emphasis will be laid upon the course as a whole, not each day's assignment.

According to a statement made by Lilla Bush, president of Kappa Delta Pi, there will be no competition about this extra-class coaching. The students are recommended for this help by their teachers, but they are not required to accept it. "Kappa Delta Pi's object," said Lilla, is to be of real service on the campus, and we believe that we can help those who are distrustful of help."

PRACTICE HOUSE MAKES CHANGES

Miss Majors, Faculty Adviser,
Plans Semi-Formal Garden

Hammers saw, wooden horses, paint, and paint-glittered canvas protectors are very much in evidence at the Horse Management House on Oakdale and Lancaster Avenues. Reservations are being made on both the inside and outside of the house.

Workers are busy putting in hardwood floors throughout the house, adding a bath upstairs, lengthening and widening the back stairs, cutting steps from the inside to the basement, repapering the faculty adviser's bedroom and bath, enlarging the bath, and adding a clothes closet, papering all the ceilings, and repainting the bedroom walls, changing the places of the pantry and the butter's pantry, adding a sink, and painting the walls and ceiling of the kitchen. Another coat of cream-colored paint will be added to the outside of the house.

Miss Etta Majors, faculty adviser, states that she is planning a semi-formal garden built around a rectangular pool. Bulbs and rose bushes have been ordered for this garden.

Advice For Leap Year Dates

It's fairly late to be giving advice to men who are about to experience a Leap Year date, according to the Associated Collegiate Press, but males at Washington University, knowing that such a date will be going on until December 31st, offer these suggestions to all collegians: Be sure to keep your escort waiting at least 20 minutes.

Load your pockets with comb, powder puffs, and mirrors. She will be disappointed if she hasn't anything to carry.

Of course she'll provide you with cigarettes and gum. Under no circumstances light your own cigarette. It would make her feel bad.

During intermissions in dancing, order at least a double chocolate malted milk. She doesn't want you to think she's a miser.

Be subdued and meek at all times, but insist on your rights. Tuxis are available at all hours.

Aside from the interval of running days, girls seem to be continuing their hard studying. A number of students have commented on the new spirit of earnest working that we noted recently.

Not a bit superstitious about the 13 per cent increase in enrollment in his department, the dean of the college of Agriculture at the University of Vermont predicts greater increases next year.

Man wanted for gardening, also to take charge of a cow who can sing in the choir and blow the organ. —News-Advertiser.

Before Breakfast Parade Features First Armistice

Can you imagine Winthrop girls parading over Rock Hill before breakfast?

Well they did—and in 1914, too. About four o'clock on the morning of November 11, news came to Rock Hill that the Armistice had been signed. Bells rang, whistles blew.

Even the bell in main building of Winthrop was rung—not by the janitor, but by an enterprising Winthrop student who wished to be sure her classmates had been awakened.

The following voted in favor of Governor Landon:

Princeton University, Amherst College, Ripon College, Lehigh University, Springfield College, Colby College, Bates College, Allegheny College, Stoughton Institute, De Pauw University, Rhode Island State College, Gettysburg College, Rutgers University, Bryn Mawr, Connecticut College, Coe College.

These schools voted for President Roosevelt:

On Professors Who Lecture Overtime

What do students think of professors who continue to lecture after the bell has rung?

The following are one sentence interviews on the subject recorded, according to the Associated Collegiate Press, by a reporter at the University of New Mexico:

"They are lunatics and abuse their authority."

"It makes me madder than heck."

"It's flattering to the students."

"They are good professors, but they shouldn't forget the clock."

"They are a. n. s."

"I don't think much of them."

"They are a swell bunch of fellows."

"They haven't been brought up correctly."

"Continued..."

"I believe that they are selfish and cause a lot of inconvenience."

"I have never developed any feeling against them."

"They ought to be tarred and feathered."

DOCTORS OF PENS DESCRIBE ENGROSSING LIFE OF NOMADS

Mr. Windolph remarks that he has since learned of the existence of the word penology.

Mr. and Mrs. Windolph did not notice any great differences between the students of Winthrop and the students of the other colleges they have visited. "All Southerners," they said, "are friendly and congenial." It is for that reason, they continued, that they prefer the South to any other section of the country. They added, however, that Winthrop students did differ from any others they had come in contact with in that they were all dressed alike and that it was rather hard to distinguish one girl from another.

Mr. Windolph, who once owned a store but had to close it up along with the closing of the banks, expressed his desire to keep on with his "medical profession—penology," which he entered accidentally, merely because of the suggestion by one of his friends.

Asked why he liked his work so much, Mr. Windolph replied, "This work I'm a free man to do as I please. And I hate to take orders from others!"

Either Dale, after her husband becomes a real celebrity, immediately "goes Hollywood." She acquires a new home and plans to betroth her daughter to a fake nobleman.

"Peace Is Subject Vespers Discussion"

"Peace" was the subject of vespers Wednesday, November 5, at 8:30 in Johnson Hall. Briggs Anderson, son, chairman of the W. W. C. A. committee on Public Affairs, led the program.

After a brief talk in which he explained that the "real issue is not to defend the nation by war but against war," Briggs turned the program into a round-table discussion on "How Peace Can Best Be Obtained."

Mary Herndon Davis, accompanied by Virginia McGowan, sang "We Shall Keep This in Perfect Peace."

Plans For Annual Pep Meet Underway

Winthrop's annual Pep Meeting will be held in the Main Auditorium Friday, November 13, at 8:30. Faculty members, officials of the college, and students are invited.

The Hockey teams will come from the side of the stage to the amphitheatre to the sections reserved for them by their classes.

Cheerleaders Cockfield, Mitchell, Flynn, and Johnson will lead their classes in song and yell. The cup will be awarded to the class that shows most originality in pep and stater songs, pep and vitality in yell, and vim in general.

Board Approves Financial Plan

A new method of handling the finances of Winthrop College was recommended by President Phelps and approved by the board of trustees at a meeting, October 27.

Under this new plan, the board will present to the president on the first of each month a budget for that month. The president will issue a check covering the requirement, and this check will be deposited in a special fund subject to the board's draft. All bills will be paid from this special fund by checks drawn by the board.

In the past, bills were paid on the direct check of the president, countermanded by the board. This made necessary the signing of checks in blank on many occasions.

DEAN'S NOTICE

"Manners form the great charm of women."—Goethe.

Assembly in chapel occurs only once a week and lasts little more than half an hour. The President provides varied programs and wishes to make assembly a happy occasion. Shall we students co-operate by showing respectful attention; by listening, reading or studying, talking, and other diverting interests, remembering the speaker looks out over the audience and is disappointed by lack of attention? Shall we show our college spirit by assembling in proper attire and showing the polite attention befitting a group of the young women favored in being able to attend college?

Let's command the admiration of our chapel speakers by our charming attention.

Dr. Phelps Speaks to Group of College Editors Meeting in Louisville

"It was perfect," said Marguerite Zeigler, editor of The Journal, in describing the Associated College Press Convention in Louisville, Kentucky, Mary Ball, editor of The Teller, and Annie Rosenblum, editor of The Johnsonian, echoed Marguerite's comment.

The Winthrop College representatives heard Herbert Agar, associate editor of The Louisville Courier-Journal; Prudy Miller publisher of the Wilmington, Ohio, News-Journal; and John B. Kennedy, NBC radio commentator, in addresses. Dr. Shelton Phelps represented the college presidents in a panel discussion of "If I Were a College Editor." Others in the group were Mark Ellinger, who spoke for professional journalism; Kelly Thompson, for college publicity directors; and Rabbi Dr. Joseph W. Rauch, for the reading public.

A number of roundtable discussions for newspapers, yearbooks, and magazines, was held for the editors, and an exhibition of various types of publications was on display. The party, composed of Dr. and Mrs. Phelps and the three editors, visited, on the return trip, My Old Kentucky Home, Abraham Lincoln's birthplace, and The Hermitage, Andrew Jackson's home.
